1) PROTECTIONISM AS BAD AS TERRORISM, SAYS MOOD

“Protectionism is as bad as terrorism,” says Mood in his recent book “Is Protectionism Good for Anyone?” In his book, Mood argues that protectionism harms the global economy and stifles innovation, just as terrorism does. He believes that free trade is essential for economic growth and stability.

2) GERMAN ACTRESS TO PLAY SONIA GANDHI IN “FREE, AGITAL PRIME MINISTER”

German actress Anna Maria Mühe has been cast to play Sonia Gandhi in the upcoming film “Free, Agital Prime Minister.” The film is based on the true story of Sonia Gandhi, who served as the Indian Home Minister from 1997 to 1998. Mühe is known for her roles in “The King’s Speech” and “The White Queen.”

3) NEW HOLLYWOOD PRODUCER INVESTS IN FIDDER CASE

Ava DuVernay, who made history as the first African American woman to direct a film that opened at the Cannes Film Festival, has invested in the Fiddler on the Roof case. DuVernay, who directed the Oscar-nominated film “Selma,” is known for her commitment to telling stories that shed light on social issues.

4) LAULU GETS 5 YR JAIL TERM IN FIDDER CASE

Lauleh Azami, who played a character in the film “Fiddler on the Roof,” has been sentenced to five years in prison for bribery and fraud. Azami is a long-time supporter of the Jewish community and has been a vocal advocate for Israel.

5) MINISTER FOR LONELINESS

Ed Miliband, the leader of the Labour Party, has been appointed as Minister for Loneliness. Miliband, who has called for greater attention to be paid to the issue of loneliness, has been a vocal advocate for mental health issues.

6) ICE DIET, SERIOUSLY?

An ice diet, which involves eating large amounts of ice, has gained popularity in recent years. While it may seem unusual, some people believe that it can help with weight loss and improve digestion. However, doctors warn that an ice diet can be dangerous and may lead to dehydration and other health problems.

7) B-SMART BEFORE YOU GET THERE

Every industry has its own lingo. But business school jargon may be especially parlance. Here are a few defined for you.

- FARE AND START: Pat plans for “Problem, Action, Result.” If you’re stuck in a team meeting, experts suggest you would talk about the problem, then you would discuss the action you would take to help solve the problem, and finally close with the result you would specifically seek. PRM is very simple — it stands for “Problem, Result, Message.”

- KISS: Klei, Is, and See. Don’t waste hours of meetings in a long-winded discussion. Be succinct and don’t go over the point you are making. The less you say, the more time you save.

- 4Ps OF MARKETING: Four things — Product, Price, Promotion, Place. You can’t嘴 the board for responsibility for any of these if you are the CEO of a company. The 4Ps are also called the “marketing mix.” One of the key aspects of a business plan is to analyze how the 4Ps will impact your product and how you will position it in the market.

- CIRCLE OF DRAIN: At a business school networking event, there will typically be more people who want to meet you than you want to meet them. It is important to know how to navigate these events and make the most of your time. A “circle of drain” is a way to identify people who may not be the best fit for your needs.

- “BEYOND”: It’s a story from the 1950s about “The God,” a man named Bontinck on a Daydream Island. The story was used for the Nokia campaign “No More.” The Nokia campaign is one of the most successful in the history of the mobile phone.

- ANGEL INVESTORS: A new type of investor is emerging in Asia. While angel investors have been around in the West for some time, they are becoming more prevalent in Asia. These investors provide seed capital to startups, helping them to get off the ground. The Angels in Asia group is a network of angel investors in the region.