

From the TOONS' WORLD

Cartoonists have their own way of presenting news to the world... Here's encapsulating the news that made headlines globally from an illustrator's eye...

BEST ET CARTOONS OF THE WEEK

US Man credits Apple Watch for saving his life

Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MGNREGS) has been in the news recently.

MAKING MGNREGS MORE USEFUL

Nobel laureate Abhijit Banerjee recently acknowledged the plugging of leakages in MGNREGS over the last five years. Clearly the efforts to clean up MGNREGS through use of technology have been effective.

MOVING FORWARD

It is welcome that government is looking at a slew of reforms in a bid to revive the economy. It approved stake sales in five PSUs, against the backdrop of a target of raising ₹ 1.05 lakh crore from such stake sales in the current fiscal year. Tightened fiscal conditions since then make it imperative to take a leaf out of the golden book of privatisation of PSUs during the Vajpayee-led NDA govt.

CLEAN UP JUDICIAL BACKLOG

alone. Till date, a whopping 1.67 lakh people have been arrested on charges of violating the Bihar Prohibition and Excise Act, 2016. Combined with the fact that bail is granted in more than 90% of the cases that come up for hearing, it's clear that government is responsible for this judicial pileup.

BECOME A CARTOONIST

Do you like making cartoons, caricatures or sketches? Well, you have a platform right here. But the cartoons should be newsy (something that is in the news).

HOW TO POST: It's very simple. Send in your cartoons/ caricatures (current affairs news) in high resolution jpg format along with your name, class and school at toinie175@gmail.com

PLEASE NOTE:
THE CARTOONS/CARICATURES SHOULD BE ORIGINAL

FROM BUDDING CARTOONISTS' PERSPECTIVE

Eating plastic animals died,
Seeing plastic Nature cried.
So Say No
To Plastics!

ARYAN GHAI, class VIII, Manav Sthali School, New Rajendra Nagar, New Delhi, appeals to everyone to make a pledge: No to Plastics!

GOKUL SARAN, class: VIII, Naahar Public School, Villupuram, Tamil Nadu, urges his peers to Join hands to build a Clean India
