

First Annual Day highlights the making of climate change leaders

'Creating Climate Change Leaders' is one of the main aims and objectives at the school. To achieve this aim the 'Green Eagle' project for the year 2021-22 was carefully planned.

To showcase the efforts and initiatives of our beloved students in this endeavour, the school hosted its first Annual Day on April 24, 2022. The entire student community at Indus Altum participated in the event, which was based on the theme climate change.

The day featured 'Green Eagles' in the form of a short play and various other performances depicting the relevance of this mission, which will continue every year in progression. With over 300 attendees, the power-packed event was not only a delight to witness but also garnered tremendous feedback from the parent community.

What made the occasion even more memorable was the presence of CEO & MD of Indus Trust Lt. Gen

Arjun Ray, PVSM, VSM (Retd). His message for the parent community, the teachers and most importantly students is one of the most crucial takebacks in making our Green Eagles future climate change leaders. He was joined by COO & MD of AE-QUS and board member at Altum Trust Rajeev Kaul.

Keeping the maxim 'Thinking Globally and Acting Locally' close to their hearts, the Green Eagles have already begun this journey.

the students of classes VI to XII attended the session enthusiastically. The programme aimed to demystify emerging technologies like Artificial Intelligence (AI) and empower students with appropriate new age tech mindset and relevant skill sets to make them digitally ready.

The programme introduced AI and differentiated between what is not AI. Demos of mini games were used to understand Computer Vision, Natural Language Processing.

The purpose of AI and AI ethics were also included. Social issues like unemployment were considered. AI accessibility as well as data security were highlighted during the course. In order to encourage students to learn and apply AI, two projects were also shown in a nutshell.

Artificial Intelligence student community (AISC) was introduced so that students can prepare their own projects. The session was wonderful and inspired all to learn about AI and use it.

SELF MOTIVATION

I might not be perfect, but I'm still trying. I am flawed, and I make mistakes. However, I believe that I can still change to become the best version of myself.

I will continue to work hard on improving myself and become someone I can be proud of. I will try to be the inspired one as believe for the best.

DO IT YOURSELF

Bottle decoupage using RECYCLED BOTTLE

PROCEDURE

- Take a reusable glass bottle.
- Draw triangles on the bottle using black paint from top till bottom and keep it for drying.
- Once the black paint dries up we can use multiple colours and fill the triangles with colours of our choice and let it dry.
- The bottle which we usually discard after using can now be used as a flower vase or pencil stand. We can also draw different designs and give it a colourful look.
- This is one of the easiest craft activity we can indulge in as all materials required for the art are easily available at home.

MATERIALS REQUIRED

- Glass bottle
- Water colour
- Brush

Sanjay Krishna Kathirvel an alumni of The PSBB Millennium School shares with us how a simple glass bottle lying at home can be transformed into a beautiful craft, which can adorn our living room.

AN INCREDIBLE BOOK

Durjoy Datta (born February 7, 1987) is an Indian romance fiction author who wrote 'Till the Last Breath'. On a peaceful Sunday morning, two young people are taken into Room 509 at GKL Super Specialty hospital. One is a talented 19-year-old medical student who is suffering from an incurable, fatal condition that is causing her to die slowly, painfully, and inexorably.

She considers every breath to be a gift. The other is a 25-year-old heroin addict who has no regard for life and is gradually shutting down every organ system in his body. He can't wait to be done with his body. To him, the sooner the better.

Two renowned surgeons confronting demons from their past are doing everything they can to keep their two patients alive. These two polar opposites in the anything in common, are caught in their final moments. Except for their impending death, share their tragic and amazing stories and have an impact on the lives of others around them.

This book, based around a race to the end, is masterfully written and fills readers' throats with tears at various moments throughout the storyline.

'Till the Last Breath' is a story about drugs, hospitals, errors, motivation, loss, life, hope, friendship, and love. There are numerous great moments in the novel that will make you cry.

I would say that it's Durjoy's best work.

MAN CITY STUN REAL MADRID

BRUYNE'S SUPERB DIVING HEADER PAVES WAY FOR VICTORY

Kevin De Bruyne

Guardiola's side doubled their lead in the 11th minute through the in-form Gabriel Jesus, who scored four goals in the Premier League at the weekend, collecting a pass from De Bruyne and spinning away from David Alaba before drilling home

After one of the greatest of Champions League semi-final clashes, Manchester City will take a 4-3 lead into the second leg of their tie against Real Madrid following an extraordinary encounter at the Etihad Stadium on Tuesday. A breath-taking and relentlessly fast game, packed with chances, moments of individual brilliance and a smattering of defensive lapses, was a treat for the spectators but leaves City, who had the better of the game, with the slenderest of leads to defend at the Santiago Bernabeu next Wednesday. Liverpool and Villarreal will certainly struggle to match the quality of this game when they meet in the other semi-final at Anfield on Wednesday.

KILLER CROSS DELIVERY

City took the lead after 94 seconds, the fastest goal scored in a Champions League semi-final, with Kevin De Bruyne's superb diving header after Riyad Mahrez made a piercing run at the Real defence, switched inside and then delivered a killer cross. Guardiola's side doubled their lead in the 11th minute through the in-form Gabriel Jesus, who scored four goals in the Premier League at the weekend, collecting a pass from De Bruyne and spinning away from David Alaba before drilling home. It was the first time that 13-times European champions Real had conceded two goals so quickly in the Champions League and another looked on the cards.

Reigning Premier League Champions City were on fire, running Spanish league leaders Real ragged, but Mahrez and Phil Foden were both unable to convert promising chances. It was a spell of the game that City may yet look back on as a missed opportunity and as so often Real found a way to get themselves back in a contest that risked running away from them.

The goal came via a familiar source, the Champions League's escape artist Karim Benzema scoring a goal out of nothing as he guided a Ferland Mendy cross into the far, bottom corner with the most delicate of steers after 33 minutes.

FODEN STRIKES

City restored a two-goal advantage eight minutes after the restart with veteran Fernandinho, on as a substitute for the injured John Stones, picking out Foden with a perfectly weighted cross which the England international nodded home. Two minutes later though Fernandinho was caught out as he allowed Brazilian compatriot Vinicius Jr to break away past him on the touchline. The winger sprinted from the halfway line deep into the area before poking the ball past Ederson to make it 3-2 with an outstanding individual effort. Yet again City found a way through. Real's defence hesitated after Oleksandr Zinchenko went down on the edge of the box but Bernardo Silva pounced and beat Thibaut Courtois with a superb drive into the top corner in the 74th minute.

There was more drama to come as City's Aymeric Laporte was penalised when the ball struck his arm in the area, after glancing off his head, and Benzema converted the penalty with a cheeky 'Panenka' chip down the middle eight minutes from time. Still City searched for more, but substitute Raheem Sterling and Ruben Dias were both unable to make contact with a dangerous ball across the box and then Dias slid in again and was just inches away from a deep Mahrez cross.

The score was to remain 4-3 but for those who wished this game could have just gone on and on there is another 90 minutes to look forward to next week. AGENCIES

MOMOTA SUFFERS SHOCK EARLY EXIT

WARDOYO STORMS BACK TO DEFEAT WORLD CHAMPION AT ASIA CHAMPIONSHIPS

Two-time world champion Kento Momota suffered a shock first-round defeat in the Asia Championships on Wednesday as his poor run of form hit a new low.

Indonesia's Chico Aura Dwi Wardoyo, ranked 52nd in the world, lost the first game but stormed back to stun the Japanese top seed 17-21, 21-17, 21-7 in just over an hour in Manila.

INJURY SETBACK

In the women's singles, top seed and Momota's fellow Japanese Akane Yamaguchi had no such trouble with a 21-15, 21-9 demolition of India's Aakarshi Kashyap in just 26 minutes. The 27-year-old Momota, the former world number one now ranked second behind Denmark's Viktor Axelsen, has never recovered his scintillating top form after being badly injured in a career-threatening car crash in January 2020. Momota's only title since the crash came at the Indonesia Masters last November and soon after he pulled out of December's World Championships with a back injury.

BROKEN SPIRIT

Momota lost his opening match at the German Open last month and failed to get past the quarter-finals at the prestigious All England Championships. The Japanese ace said that his "spirit was almost broken" by the accident which killed his driver on the way to Kuala Lumpur airport just hours after winning the Malaysia Masters.

Momota suffered double vision and needed surgery on an orbital bone near his eye, leaving him fearing his career might be over. He returned to the circuit at the end of 2020 and had been favourite for Olympic gold on home soil in Tokyo last year, but was eliminated early. AFP

THIEM TUMBLES OUT IN ESTORIL FIRST ROUND

Dominic Thiem suffered another first-round exit at the Estoril Open on Tuesday, losing in straight sets to France's Benjamin Bonzi as he continues his comeback from a long injury lay-off.

The Austrian former world number three lost 6-3, 7-6 (11/9) to the 58th-ranked Bonzi on the clay in Portugal.

Thiem, the 2020 US Open champion, was beaten in the first round of the Serbia Open last week in his first four-level match in 10 months.

The 28-year-old had been sidelined with a wrist injury suffered in a grass court tournament in Marbella in June last year. He has fallen to 93 in the rankings. AFP
